1. The central UDB school for Yugoslavia is located in Dedinje, a suburb of Belgrade. This school is attended by all officer candidates and all UDB NCOs. All candidates for the school are volunteers; they must not exceed 21 years of age and must be in good physical and mental health. Candidates who speak foreign languages are given preference. The UDB has no ranks below NCO.
2. Normal courses of instruction last two years. The first three months are devoted primarily to physical training. Examinations are held every six months; but unusually capable students may take examinations every three months, thereby reducing the length of the course accordingly. Those students who fail to meet the requirements are transferred to the Militia. The curriculum includes military intelligence, political intelligence, and criminal police training. The students are organized in language groups and the foreign languages taught include German, English, Hungarian, Italian, Bulgarian, Russian, Rumanian, and Albanian. Duty lasts from 10 to 12 hours daily.
3. UDB schools are maintained in each of the federal republics of Yugoslavia. Graduates from these schools must undergo an additional three-month course at the central UDB school in Belgrade.
